

Problem Statement:

The internet is infested with bot accounts with few means of containing them.

Details:

This issue is also sometimes referred to as “dead internet theory” where most of the internet has been completely taken over by bots. It leads to many issues such as constant low quality content being generated, or they can be used for other malicious purposes such as stealing information.